Senate Nears Final Vote On Rent Control

Administration Leaders Abandon Hope Of Plugging Holes In Measure

CONFEREES WILL HAVE FINAL SAY

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Senate administration leaders abandoned hope today of plugging the holes Congress has driven into President Truman's rental control bill which the Upper Chamber expects to pass before nightfall.

Sen. Sparkman (D) Ala., managing the bill on the senate floor, said he will not ask reconsideration of action allowing city councils to scrap controls in their areas if they can get the approval of their state governors.

Sparkman indicated that he expects the Fulbright city-governor decontrol plan, adopted by a 45 to 35 vote, to head off threats that the senate might join the house in voting for a flat "local option" by which any local government unit—city, county or township—could decontrol its area.

The Alabama senator predicted that the senate conferees will stand firm on their insistence on the Fulbright amendment in their compromise with the house.

Will Go To Conference
After senate passage the bill goes to a conference which will iron out differences between house and senate versions of the measure.

Many Dixie Democrats—who joined with Republicans in a coalition which ended administration hopes for a tight gag filibusters—voted with GOP senators again

Another large consignment of buses headed for Latin American countries has been traveling through the city in the past few days. The buses are the finest available and can carry large loads.

Lieut. Thomas Jones, city police, caused to be erected in East street near Neshannock avenue a sidewalk sign reading: "Slow, Don't Splash Curb Water." It had its effect on some motorists. The water flows deep along the east curb and often times careless motorists splash dirty water over people's clothing.

Local stores are reporting a large turnover in garden implements. Evidently many new gardens will be started in the coming weeks in addition to those which have been planned in previous years. Many of the new homes built about the city and county have large plots for gardens which will be put into use.

Announcement is made by the state highway department that 16 of the roads in Lawrence county maintained by the department will have eight-ton weight limits imposed on them in the next few days. The restrictions will be in effect for a period of 90 days or until such time the roads are in condition for heavier loads. A complete list of the posted roads will appear in The News Thursday.

Excavating is under way in the Crdon district near the Ray street intersection for a new business building. Other construction work about the city is well under way by various contractors. Exceptionally good progress is being made due to the weather man smiling on the outdoor work the past while back.

May Delay Funeral Of Slain Milwaukee Girl

MILWAUKEE, March 23.—(INS)—The grief-stricken parents of a slain high school girl pleaded today for their missing daughter to come home for the funeral of 16-year-old Patricia Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Birmingham asked newsmen to publicize that they would delay the services, scheduled for tomorrow morning, if their older daughter, Kathleen, 17, cannot return to Milwaukee in time for the rites.

Kathleen is believed to have eloped last Thursday with her childhood sweetheart, Milton Babich.

Police issued a warrant last night for the 19-year-old youth, who is wanted for questioning in connection with the slaying of Patricia.

Patricia's body was found Sunday in the Milwaukee river. She had been shot twice in the head and her body was weighted with a 38½ pound concrete block.

The warrant charged Babich with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and was signed by the parents of the missing girl. They said he took Kathleen from their home without their consent.

Kathleen and Babich had left notes for their respective parents saying they planned to be married. Although nationwide broad-

Speculation On Future Course Of John L. Lewis

Senate Confirms Dr. James Boyd As Director Of U. S. Bureau Of Mines

APPROVAL VOTE IS OVERWHELMING

By JOHN BOOTH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Speculation arose today whether John L. Lewis will send his United Mine Workers back to the pits March 28 in view of the senate's confirmation of Dr. James Boyd as director of the United States bureau of mines.

Lewis ordered all the soft coal miners east of the Mississippi out of the bituminous mines for 14 days beginning last March 14 in protest against President Truman's nomination of Dr. Boyd.

The on the very day the work stoppage got underway the senate interior committee defiantly approved the nomination 10 to 1.

Overwhelming Vote
In completing the action last night, the senate voted overwhelmingly, 50 to 11, to approve the nomination, first made two years ago. The 80th congress, however, failed to act on the nomination and Boyd has been serving without pay since December 1947.

Neither Lewis nor any UMW spokesman had any comment on the senate confirmation.

Leads To Speculation
The silence about UMW headquarters led to speculation that Lewis may be planning another attack on Boyd, possibly by lengthening the present work stoppage.

City Manager Bill Defeated In House

Third Class City Proposal Is Rejected By 99-85 Vote On Tuesday

HARRISBURG, March 23.—(INS)—The defeat of a measure providing machinery to allow third-class cities to adopt the city manager type of government highlighted House activity yesterday.

The measure, proposing to submit the question of city manager government to a referendum vote upon petition of five per cent of the city's population, was turned down by a vote of 99-85.

In urging adoption of the measure, Rep. Ray L. Riley (R), Lycoming, who sponsored the bill with Andrews, asserted that it would "eliminate a lot of overlapping and costly offices and reduce the operating costs of third-class cities."

Andrews termed the bill "an adventure in the realm of applied democracy" and contended that "no one who is afraid of a referendum can qualify as a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat or a progressive Republican."

A solid opposition vote by the 41-member Philadelphia delegation contributed largely to defeat of the bill. Home rule legislation affecting Philadelphia is pending.

Expect Pension Bill To Receive House Approval

Indicate Measure May Be Limited To Ex-Servicemen Of World War I

ADMINISTRATION OPPOSES BILL

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The House is expected to approve today a veteran pension bill, probably limited to ex-servicemen of World War I.

Democratic leaders virtually conceded passage of the administration-opposed measure but predicted approval of an amendment removing 14 million World War II veterans from the bill's benefits.

The bill also is expected to be amended to restrict payment of pensions to needy veterans, possibly barring it to single veterans whose annual income exceeds $2,000 and to ex-servicemen with a dependent whose annual income exceeds $3,000.

The legislation, which weathered two severe attacks, would grant veterans $90 monthly pensions when they reached the age of 65.

Narrowly Escaped Defeat
Sponsored by Rep. Rankin (D) Miss., the bill narrowly escaped being defeated during a hectic day in which the house first vote in effect to kill the bill and then reversed itself.

The house turned thumbs down on the bill on a teller vote of 163 to 154, but then reversed itself on two formal roll call tallies of 223 to 187 and 291 to 120.

On the teller vote, no names were recorded.

After reversing itself, the house then proceeded by voice vote to eliminate "blue discharge" veterans from the bill's benefits. These are servicemen who received "other than dishonorable" discharges, including conscientious objectors and others who were let go because they were deemed incapable of performing their duty adequately.

Would Be Limited
Pensions would be limited to honorably discharged veterans who served for at least 90 days or who were discharged before that for service-connected disabilities.

Cost of the program during the next 50 years has been set at 125 (Continued on Page Two)

Two Are Hurt In Auto Crash

Accident Victims In New Castle Hospital—May Have Fractured Skulls

CRASH OCCURS ON SOUTH MILL STREET

Two persons are in the New Castle hospital with a possible fracture of the skull, because of an auto accident which occurred in front of 923 South Mill street, at 11:40 p. m. Tuesday.

They are:
Joe Malone, age 26 of 106 East Reynolds street; severe laceration of left cheek, scalp and possible fracture of skull.

Donald Marshall, age 30, of 13 Round street; possible fracture of skull.

Both sustained brush burns of the legs.

According to police investigators, Tewell and Davis, Marshall was operating an auto north in South Mill street. It struck a car parked by Charles Selby, of 802 West Grant street, in front of 923 South Mill street. After it struck the parked car, the auto operated by Marshall crossed to the west side of the street and hit a car traveling south, which was operated by Anthony Madure of 210 East Luton street.

Malone was a passenger in Madure's auto.

The injured were hurried to the New Castle hospital.

Figures In Washington Suit

Congresswoman Asserts Charges Are 'Ridiculous'

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, March 23.—(INS)—The whereabouts of Navy Capt. Harold A. Latta-Lawrence, whose pretty wife charges that Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R) Mass., wrecked their marriage, became something of a mystery today. He failed to show up for work today.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(INS)—Sixty-eight-year-old Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers today branded as "ridiculous" charges that she came between the affections of a 48-year-old navy captain and his 35-year-old wife.

A district court suit naming the Republican representative from Lowell, Mass., was filed by pert, strawberry blonde Mrs. Eilene Diana Latta-Lawrence, of Los Angeles.

Taft-Hartley Law Repeal Approved By Committee

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(INS)—A House labor subcommittee today approved the administration's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley law and restore an amended Wagner Act.

The group voted eight to five along straight party lines to endorse the measure without change. The action was taken less than 48 hours after the subcommittee concluded two weeks of public hearings.

Chairman Lesinski (D) Mich., said the full House Labor Committee will meet tomorrow to act on the Taft-Hartley repealer.

Lesinski told newsmen he thought the bill at tomorrow's session, probably by a 13-to-12 vote, and report it to the House for action.

Seek Motive In Murder-Suicide

GUAM, March 23.—(INS)—Guam police sought the motive today for the bludgeoned murder of a 17-year-old mother whose brother-in-law, an apparent suicide, was found in the jungle a few hours after her body was discovered.

The murder victim was the wife of Gregorio Palomo Nolas. She met and married her husband in San Francisco while he was serving in the U. S. navy.

Authorities said that the woman's brother-in-law, Juan Palomo San Nolas, 32, had been charged with attempted assault on the young mother.

The young wife's skull had been crushed and police reported they found a blood-stained hammer near the body.

Mrs. Nolas was the former Susan De Garcia of Managua, Nicaragua.

Two Are Named To Assistance Board In Lawrence County

HARRISBURG, March 23.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff's appointments of Nick Caney and Fred Vaughn, both of New Castle, to the Lawrence county board of public assistance were before the senate executive nominations committee today.

Caney, a Republican, was named a successor Samuel H. Taylor of New Castle until December 31, 1951.

Vaughn, a Democrat, was appointed by the governor to serve until December 31, 1949.

Kickoff Dinner For YMCA Drive

More Than Eighty Attend Opening Meeting Of Campaign To Enlist 1,100 Members

CHAIRMAN SAMUELS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Pep and enthusiasm marked the YMCA membership campaign "kick off" banquet at the Y Tuesday evening.

More than 80 members and workers attended and all were treated to a fine steak dinner before the speaking program got underway.

Y president, John P. Boyle was in charge of the meeting and he called on Rev. J. L. Petrie, pastor of the Mahoning Methodist church for the invocation.

Sam Lewis led in group singing accompanied by Ernel Branstetter at the piano.

Samuels Speaker
General campaign chairman, Alec Samuels was the principal speaker for the evening. Samuels' wisely chosen words will serve as the keynote and supply the motto for this year's drive.

He stressed the fact that every boy should at some time during his growing years be a member of the Y. He further mentioned, that the experiences a boy has at the Y teach that the most important things are "What unites boys not what divides them."

He stated that the Y builds character through the moral, spiritual, and physical activities it offers the youth of our city.

Mr. Samuels ended the campaign with these words, "Building boys is better than mending men."

The concluding statement has been adopted as the slogan for the 1949 membership campaign.

Leaders Speak
Mr. Boyle then asked for a word from the division chairmen.

Richard E. Rentz spoke for his red team and Robert Strickler spoke for the blue division in behalf of chairman Sid Lockley, who was unable to attend.

Recognition of the importance of the excellent work performed by the boys in the campaign was given by Mr. Boyle. He introduced Bill Reiber, leading boy "campaigner," who told of the work he and his friends were doing to put the drive over.

Dave Gatrall, Y program director, concluded the meeting with an explanation of workers' instructions.

The first report meeting will be held on Saturday, March 26. General secretary, Robert Meermans has urged all workers to strive for a good report on that day. It is anticipated that a large percentage of the 1,100 membership quota will be reached by that time.

Israel-Lebanon Sign Armistice

TEL AVIV, March 23.—(INS)—Israel and her tiny northern Arab neighbor, Lebanon, signed a formal armistice agreement today.

The signing ceremony took place at the border village of Ras Ena-naqura, climaxing three weeks of negotiations.

Lebanon thus became the second Arab state to complete an armistice accord with Israel. Egypt signed such an agreement on Rhodes last month, while Trans-Jordan is currently negotiating a similar pact.

Formal Signing Of Atlantic Pact To Be Impressive

Official Plans Being Made For Big Ceremonies On April 4

MANY NOTABLES WILL TAKE PART

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—United States officials plan today to make the formal signing of the North Atlantic Pact one of the most impressive ceremonies ever held in the American capital.

The signing is to take place April 4 at a time when the famed Japanese cherry blossoms are scheduled to be in bloom and Washington will be thronged with visitors.

Some of the leading figures of current world history will be brought together for the ceremonies on the alliance.

Britain's Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin is certain to be in Washington. He is due to ship aboard the Queen Mary, scheduled to arrive in New York about April 1.

Notables Coming
It is also certain that France's Foreign Minister Robert Schuman will come to Washington about the same time and will be followed shortly afterward by Italy's Foreign Minister Count Carlos Sforza.

The foreign ministers of Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark, Portugal and Iceland are expected to be present in person for the ceremonies.

While the foreign ministers ostensibly will be in Washington merely for the signing of the historic pact, binding twelve nations into a political and military defense against Communism, they are expected to discuss other matters.

To Plan Defense
It appears certain that all will be consulted on the matter of setting up a combined defense headquarters in Paris, supplanting the present military land, sea and air command of the Brussels pact powers already existing there.

Several of the foreign ministers are expected to go to New York to attend the meeting of the United Nations General Assembly meeting April 5.

Some may stay over to attend the cornerstone laying of the new UN permanent headquarters in New York City. President Truman is to lay the stone on April 10.

Hungary Expels Ten Zionists

LONDON, March 23.—(INS)—Reports that ten Zionist instructors have been ordered expelled from communist-run Hungary indicated today a further deterioration of relations between Israel and the Soviet satellites.

Information from Tel Aviv said the ten—all Israeli citizens—were given 24 hours to leave Hungary.

London circles attached particular significance to the fact that the instructors were all members of the left-wing Mapam party, which opposes Premier David Ben-Gurion and follows a strongly pro-Russian policy.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
(Distributed By International News Service)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 22.—Tom Campbell, the undisputed wheat king of the world, has an affinity for deserts.

The first time I ever saw Tom, in an army mess in Algiers in February, 1943, he was telling anyone who would listen that North Africa had been the breadbasket of the world in the days of the Caesars and that this semi-desert could again feed Europe, if properly farmed.

His enthusiasm was so contagious and engaging that within ten minutes even the most skeptical Army men, who cursed the bleak, arid North African terrain, were caught up in Tom's plans to make the desert bloom.

Afterward, when this tall, extraordinary handsome man with the snow white hair and the dynamism of a man half his years, had left, his plan to reclaim Caesar's breadbasket seemed very romantic—and equally remote. True, much of the world, including Europe, was bitterly hungry.

But, there was a war to be won and the desert seemed a vast and implacable adversary to both man and wheat.

But it is the measure of Tom Campbell, 66, that his agricultural plan for North Africa is already under way and he has now turned his energy and enthusiasm to the awesome and arid expanses of New Mexico.

Revolutionizes Techniques

The man who has revolutionized agricultural techniques the world round in the past three decades is now the largest land owner in this state. He has acquired 429,000 acres in the vicinity of Albuquerque on which to try out the theories and practices which have made his 65,000 acre tract near Hardin, Mont., the biggest privately operated wheat farm in the world.

"All nature wants is just a chance," Tom shouted happily above the roar of his jeep as we rocketed down a cattle trail through the biggest pasture—100,000 acres of it—on the continent. He plans to give nature that chance on an acreage that extends from mountain range to mountain range, and varies from dry mesas to irrigated land through high plateaus to heavily wooded timber lands where he plans extensive logging operations.

Tom will adopt to this southwest kingdom the intensive mechanization which has made him world-renowned as the inventor and perfecter of mass production in agriculture.

For Tom is the originator of mechanized farming and the internal combustion engine is his hand-maiden. He uses $675,000 worth of machinery to help him harvest his million to million-and-a-half dollar annual wheat crop in Montana. Some of his most spectacular machines are Army surplus tanks and half tracks ingeniously transformed to farm uses.

If Tom introduced machines in heretofore unknown quantities to the farm at the time of World War I, it is the machine that has introduced Tom to the world and made him a farmer on a global scale. When young Tom Campbell went to Washington in 1917 to join the U. S. Army, it took Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior; Herbert Hoover, food administrator, and Andre Tardieu, French high commissioner, to persuade him it was his duty to stay home and grow wheat. The world was then as hungry as it is today.

That was the beginning of the Montana adventure with its unprecedented mechanization. Its success was so spectacular that the Russian government in 1928 asked Tom to come to the U.S.S.R. as consulting engineer for the Soviets' first agricultural five-year plan. More than 7,500,000 acres of state farms were organized to Tom's specifications.

First To Meet Stalin
Tom, a life-long Republican, was one of the first Americans to meet Stalin.

He can laugh about it now, but it was not particularly funny to Tom in 1933 when his advisory job with the Russians cost him the secretaryship of agriculture in the Hoover cabinet, after he had organized the farmers for Hoover in the 1932 campaign.

England, early in 1941, sent for Tom to boost its own wheat output. Then in 1945, at the request of Field Marshal Smuts and the late President Roosevelt, Tom went to South Africa to advise on agricultural problems there.

And finally, this man's dream of making the arid North African terrain again bloom as in Caesar's time began to come true. At the request of the French government, he flew to North Africa late in 1948 to advise Tunisian, Algerian and Moroccan farmers on problems of soil and moisture conservation and increased yield on present acreage.

Is it any wonder, then, that his Montana neighbors, the Crow Indians, when they adopted him into the tribe, named him Ahwagodi Agosh, "Known All Over the World?"

More Praise Is Given Firemen

J. B. Nielsen Presents Department With Check For Fine Work Sunday

Additional praise was showered on the New Castle fire department for its splendid work at the fire which destroyed the Central Presbyterian church early Sunday morning.

J. B. Nielsen, who occupies the Davis block, adjoining the church, in a letter to Fire Chief Steinbrink today expressed his appreciation and enclosed a substantial check to be used by the department.

His letter follows: "Fire Chief Herman F. Steinbrink, New Castle Fire Department, 'Dear Mr. Steinbrink:

"I want to commend you and your gallant men of the New Castle fire department for a splendid job of fire fighting at the Central Presbyterian church Saturday night. It was a heroic demonstration of trained team work and other business men in the block join in offering the highest praise to the fire department for its success in saving the adjoining buildings. The blaze could easily have spread through the entire block.

"It is in time of emergency that we come to know and appreciate our city firemen.

Yours sincerely,

Lawrence, that he had told her he had been on "intimate and close terms" with Mrs. Rogers for 20 years.

Postponed Wedding

Mrs. Latta-Lawrence also asserted that her husband twice postponed their wedding because he was afraid it might meet with the disapproval of Rep. Rogers.

Furthermore, she added, her husband told her that she would have to live outside of Washington because "the marriage was a cause of great misery and suffering to Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers."

Mrs. Rogers, who has served uninterruptedly in Congress since June, 1925, when she was appointed to fill the unexpired term of her late husband, told newsmen: "It's ridiculous. It's ridiculous that I could have any influence on him."

Says It's Absurd

"I attended their wedding. I gave them many presents. Of course it's absurd."

Mrs. Latta-Lawrence said that after her marriage to the captain she and her husband and Mrs. Rogers had rooms at the same Washington hotel. The wife charged that her husband "on several occasions visited Edith Nourse Rogers' suite late into the night."

They were married in April, 1948.

In September, Mrs. Latta-Lawrence charged, her husband told her he had to go on submarine maneuvers, but that when she checked up, she found he was at Saco, Maine. Mrs. Rogers, she added, also was visiting Saco at the time.

Received Career Benefits

The wife declared that her husband once told her he "received in the past and expected to receive in the future, many and substantial benefits as to advancement of his naval career and his financial needs" from Mrs. Rogers.

Capt. Latta-Lawrence, now an aide to Adm. Denfeld, chief of naval operations, at one time was employed as a secretary in Mrs. Rogers' office.

In 1940 he went into the navy as a lieutenant, junior grade, with Rep. Vandenberg (R) Mich., Warren Austin, now U. S. delegate to the United Nations, and Mrs. Rogers as his sponsors.

In placing the future of rent control in the hands of city councils and state governors.

The senate, however, turned down an effort by Sen. Bricker (R) O., to block administration plans to authorize reconrol of trailer camps and certain other decontrolled rental properties.

Reconrol of residential hotels was provided for Chicago and New York by a compromise which brought such hotels back under controls only in cities of more than 2,500,000 population.

Bricker thought of dropping his demand for the "local option" proposal and termed the Fulbright plan "pretty good."

For "Fair Return"

Bricker, however, said he still will press for his "fair return" amendment and for ending rent controls in six months, plus another six months of protection to tenants against evictions.

Sparkman declared that senate adoption of the Fulbright plan "seriously weakens" rent control, and predicted that it may become a "local political football" in some areas.

He added, however, that "if city councils carry out the law, I don't think there will be any rush to decontrol."

Sparkman said he considered the requirement for 10 days notice and a public hearing before a city asks a governor's approval for decontrol will be a brake on decontrol actions. He asserted that it imposes on city councils "a task they don't want."

MAY DELAY FUNERAL OF SLAIN MILWAUKEE GIRL

casts to police for their apprehension have been made no trace of the young couple has been found.

Fear For Safety

Milwaukee police expressed fear for Kathleen's safety. Detective Capt. Adolph W. Kraemer said: "We want to know where Kathleen is. She may be in the drink, too."

Kraemer issued the statement after questioning one of Patricia's classmates, Ruth Miller, 16. She said the slain girl told her last February 10, the day she disappeared, that she was going to meet Babich.

Miss Miller quoted Patricia as saying that Babich and Kathleen "were on the outs" and the missing youth was seeking her help to "patch it up".

Authorities believe Babich and Kathleen may be able to furnish clues concerning Patricia's death.

Police revealed that the youth withdrew $1,500 from a bank March 17, the day he reportedly eloped with Kathleen.

Only one clue has been received since the couple vanished. The keys to the Babich family car together with a Milwaukee parking ticket was mailed to the youth's father the day after he left home.

billion dollars by the administration. It provides for: (1) $90 monthly pensions to veterans at age 65 regardless of need and (2) monthly pensions of $120 to "helpless" veterans requiring an attendant, regardless of age.

In addition, the Rankin bill amended the law affecting pensions for veterans' widows. The present law prohibits the drawing of a pension by a widow or child of a veteran whose annual income exceeds $1,000 or $2,500 in case of a widow with a dependent. The Rankin bill would increase the limitations to $2,000 and $3,000, respectively.

The Rankin bill also placed widows and veterans of both wars on exactly the same basis, thus making it easier for widows of World War II veterans to receive pensions.

Fair Employment Practices Policy Is Reaffirmed

Newly Issued Military Procurement Regulation For Government Contractors

WASHINGTON, March 23—(INS)—A newly issued military procurement regulation today reaffirmed the enforcement of a fair employment practices policy in the performance of government contracts.

A military spokesman described the regulation, effective July 1, as a "sort of wrapping up" of existing labor policies of the armed services.

It applies to all three branches—Army, Navy and Air Force—and affects several billion dollars worth of government business.

The regulation provides for a clause in all military procurement contracts obligating the contractor to pursue a policy of nondiscrimination in employment.

The regulation is based on an executive order issued by the late president Roosevelt in 1941 and revised in 1943.

The House only yesterday defeated an attempt to give statutory backing to this policy.

Pittsburgh Man To Address Engineers

Special speaker for the occasion will be C. W. Werner, Pittsburgh district manager of the Link-Belt company who will talk on the theme, "Materials Handling." R. H. Druschel, 122 Fairfield avenue is making arrangements for the meeting.

Will Try To Name Principal Tonight

Another effort to name a school principal to succeed W. A. Hoffmaster will be made tonight at a special meeting of the school board. At the regular meeting a week ago a deadlock resulted and the meeting was adjourned until tonight.

The contract for athletic equipment will probably be awarded tonight also, the bids having been opened last week.

Potter Announces For Re-Election

Register And Recorder Candidate For Republican Nomination

ORVILLE POTTER

In announcing my candidacy for the Republican Nomination to the office of Register and Recorder, I want to express my sincere appreciation to the voters of Lawrence County for the privilege of serving in this important office.

Many valuable documents including deeds, mortgages, wills and other legal papers which affect the title to virtually all real estate in Lawrence County, are made a matter of record in this office. Thousands of veterans discharge certificates are recorded and available for future need.

It has always been my belief that appreciation can best be manifested by public officials and employees in giving honest, friendly and efficient service. It is also my belief that public office requires more than the mere administration of its duties and for that reason I have tried to devote a certain amount of my time to activities that lend to the betterment of this community in which we live.

In mentioning the fact that I am a veteran of World War I, I do so only because I consider it an honor to have been able to serve our country in time of war, just as I will consider it a privilege to continue serving in the capacity of Register and Recorder of Lawrence County.

May I take this opportunity of asking the Republican voters for their favorable consideration at the coming Primary Election.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The first major victory for the North Atlantic pact in the field of international affairs was recorded today by virtue of the Cantonal elections in France and North Africa which resulted in a triumph for the middle-of-the-road government coalition.

Despite their seemingly localized nature these elections actually were fought on broad international issues.

They are tantamount to county elections in the United States. But in this case Premier Henri Queuille virtually asked for a vote of confidence for his entire foreign policy, which is pivoted on the Atlantic pact as the nation's chief and most immediate concern.

The government once again found itself in a position of fighting both Communists and right-wing De Gaulists. The Paris newspaper Le Monde, which reflects the views of the foreign office, took the line that the nation, by backing Queuille and the Atlantic pact, "has repulsed adventures of both left and right."

There is no question that the test was a major one and that the Communists did all in their power to make it decisive for their party and its doctrines.

From the viewpoint of electioneering, the Communists had considerable initial advantages which, however, failed to help them at all.

The voting came on the very first Sunday after the text of the pact had been made public. This meant that the voters went to the polls at a moment when Communist propaganda against the agreement and the democracies concerned in it was at its highest pitch.

Local Communist campaigners had nothing else to do but to pass along the charges made by Moscow that the treaty is, in effect, a declaration of war against Russia.

Soviet Seeks To Frighten
The Soviet approach has been one of trying to frighten France and the other war-weary western nations into belief their leaders are about to sign a paper that is certain to mean a new and immeasurably grave new holocaust.

The people of France, however, obviously have not been affected by this propaganda. They had many simple choices of candidates if they had wanted to undermine the present government both domestically and internationally but decided instead, to remain firmly in the Democratic camp.

The historical coincidence of the election and pact-publication has given the treaty an unexpected impetus from the beginning.

Despite its still precarious financial condition and the fact that much remains to be done before the country recovers from its war wounds, France is of enormous importance to successful operation of the treaty.

It is based fundamentally upon the concept that so far as continental Europe is concerned, the line of the river Rhine must be held at all costs in event of armed conflict between east and west.

Main headquarters are at Fontainebleau, where the Western Union defense committees are established, and field operations call for a base at Luxembourg just across the border if a new war should come.

French infantry as usual will be the immediate ground bulwark and many divisions are being re-equipped with United States war materiel, either surplus or new. Great Britain has taken over the task of supplying France with a nucleus of jet fighter and bombing planes, and the British air ministry is supervising a new build-up of French aircraft factories.

The election means at the very least that all this is being done with majority approval of the French people.

Looking At Life
By ERICH BRANDEIS
That Electroman I told you about has me worried.

After finishing my column yesterday I went back to work on my colossal invention.

But a couple of friends dropped in and, knowing that they are trustworthy and wouldn't swipe my idea, I discussed it with them.

The man thought it was great. He figured that when the human race became a race of Electromen and Electrowomen the whole world would run like a well-oiled machine, and not be a hodge-podge of badly put-together human beings of the present model.

For instance, he figured, electricians being much cheaper than doctors, the money saved on doctor bills alone would almost enable a man to buy a home.

Oil being much less expensive than pills and lotions, there would be another great saving.

When someone suggested that my Electroman might put a lot of doctors and druggists out of business, my friend dismissed that idea with the remark:

"Never mind that. There are plenty of doctors and druggists going out of business now. So let the doctors study mechanics and the druggists go into the oil business. It might be better for all of us."

Everything was going fine for my invention when this fellow's wife had to pipe up with this crack: "So far so good. You have provided for the physical part of the new type of human being."

"But how about his heart, his soul, his brain?"

"How are you going to do that with electricity?"

Well, she had me there, and now I'll have to try to tackle that, too.

The brain part won't be so bad. A Dr. Raymond Pepinsky, physicist at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, has just perfected an electric brain intended to figure out the atomic arrangement of various chemicals. I don't know what it means, but it is supposed to be terribly important for something or other.

I shall look into this matter carefully and see whether I can't adapt this electric brain to my Electroman so that all his thinking and planning will be done by it.

My trouble at the moment is that this newly invented "electric brain" looks like a giant switch-board and is much too large to build into my Electroman, who, after all, will have to be about the size of the average human being so that he can fit the standard size automobiles, elevators, apartments and clothes.

I don't anticipate much difficulty on that score, however. See what they have done with portable radios that give you the same terrible programs with a little flash-light battery, as the big thousand dollar sets.

My real problem will be the heart, the soul.

How will I handle love and hope and charity? What will I do about faith and kindness and brotherhood?

I certainly want to do better than what has been done by the present type of human being.

At least there is one bit of consolation in the work ahead: I couldn't do much worse, (Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Next time you attend a small social gathering observe the efforts at humor by a husband or wife at the other's expense—a "dirty dig" aimed at causing laughter.

Frequent Victims
We parents are star performers in attempting to create laughter at another person's expense, and our children are our easiest and most frequent victims. We begin to make fun of our children and to cause others to laugh at them long before these children begin to talk.

What parent has not exchanged snickers and laughter with other adults over an innocent gesture, question or remark by a very young child right in this child's presence, or even asked this child to repeat some awkward statement so guests might join in laughter at him?

But very soon there comes a time when this child realizes he is being the object of levity and ridicule. Then how does he feel, do you suppose? What may seem funny to the parent and other adults was not meant by the child to be funny at all.

Whenever we adults make fun of children of any age, we betray our primitive urge to lord it over them. We do harm to them as persons. We arouse feelings of inferiority in them. We also lessen their genuine (Continued on Page Seven)

The Atlantic Alliance Pact

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Beginning with the release of the text and moving on to the official signing, the Atlantic pact is being floodlighted with publicity. This is as it should be, since the step is a momentous one.

The very brightness of the glow of publicity may, however, be deceptive. It may encourage the illusion that the mere signing of the pact is in itself a complete achievement.

Nothing could be further from the truth. The pact is merely a beginning. If it is not a beginning, then it is nothing.

Quite properly the pact has been compared to the Monroe Doctrine, which signalled the end of European intervention in the western hemisphere. But the mere enunciation of the doctrine by President Monroe did not guarantee the independence of this hemisphere from further encroachment.

That came out of a whole series of events—both words and deeds—which gave substance to the doctrine. It came out of the growing strength and authority of the United States. The general outline laid down by President Monroe was given meaning through the years.

Too Little Has Been Said
Too little has been said by responsible officials about the objectives of the Atlantic pact and about what it does not mean. Too much reliance has been placed on generalization and rhetoric. Yet at the same time there has been widespread speculation here and abroad over the volume of arms available to participating European countries.

This is a weakness that can cause future trouble. The fact, which no one talks about, is that the pact is truly a beginning and not just another scrap of paper, then it can serve as the base for a new kind of world society. The nucleus of a world state is here if the framers of the pact mean what they say. The Atlantic community can transcend the tragic limitations of the U.N.

Another reason for putting all the emphasis on the peaceful intention of the pact is the deep-seated fear and suspicion on the part of the Russians. There is the strong probability that the masters of the Kremlin actually believe their own propaganda that the Atlantic alliance is an alliance of the western powers, under U.S. domination, to make war on the Soviet Union.

A recent analysis of Soviet propaganda showed the pathological fear motivating much of what comes out of the land of midnight (Continued on Page Seven)

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

(By International News Service)

Can't figure John Lewis organizing cab drivers . . . it's not like him to tie up with anyone who will put him in a back seat.

Must be something he thought up on vacation . . . last time he took two weeks off he organized milk maids.

But it was logical . . . milk comes from cows, cows eat hay, hay grows in the earth, the earth contains minerals, minerals are mined . . . welcome to the UMW!

And for New York it would be a break to have United Mine Worker taxi drivers. We've tried for years to find a quick route across town . . . now we can get a driver who will dig one.

But will it be an accident or a jurisdictional dispute when a UMW cab and an AFL truck collide with a Transport Workers Union bus?

From something heritage must bring: The merry twinkle in the eye Assuring friendliness is nigh: The warmth within the welcoming hand

That all can feel and understand Which speaks a language, clearer far Than words, how'er polite they are?

I often wonder how and why So many pass their fellows by As if indifferent to them all. Leaving no memory to recall. Merely the nod of greeting, then Back to their own affairs again. Of friendship not the slightest show.

Early to train the mind we start. But what about the human heart? Can hearts be tutored to reveal What others must be left to feel? And, is there any way to teach The art of that unspoken speech Which, at the briefest meeting's end, Changes a stranger to a friend? (Copyright, 1949, Edgar A. Guest)

The Congress Coalition

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—"A new de facto political party," said Senator Morse of Oregon, "was formed on the floor of the Senate last night"—the night that 52 senators signed up for the Wherry-Hayden cloture compromise.

Morse made his well-delivered speech to no more than five or six senators on each side of the aisle. He deserved a better audience. He was saying what everybody knew, but saying it with a punch and with emotional trimmings. If his address had one real fault, it was that Morse fell into the common cliché of using the terms "fascist" and "communist" to lash his opponents. This was pretty foolish for a man of the Oregonian's good sense, but it need not discredit all he said. Boiled down, his statement was that the 81st Congress—on the 71st day of its existence—had broken over party lines and divided into Liberal and Conservative camps. We can best delineate this new division by a partial break-down of the 52 signers.

Break-Down Of Coalition

The bulk of the coalition, of course, was composed of Southern senators and Old Guard Republicans. But this is too pat an analysis. The break-down only gets interesting when we examine some of the fringe elements.

1. Non-Southern Democrats. The big name here is Senator Tydings of Maryland. Although in state and national politics most of his adult life, Tydings is nobody's trimmer. He bucked the New Deal so often that Mr. Roosevelt tried unsuccessfully to purge him. He supported Mr. Truman as a matter of personal and party loyalty, and he ordinarily has no truck with the opposition. Last year, although a sick man, he wheeled into action against Harold Stassen's attack on Edwin Pauley and White House Surgeon Graham, the inside speculators on the commodity market. Tydings' break with Administration leadership, while not surprising, has a big place in the general picture.

2. New Democratic Senators. Not counting Confederates, there were six Democratic senators of 1948 vintage who joined the Coalition. This is pretty astonishing when we recall what interpretation the Democrats themselves put on the November upset. It was widely acclaimed as a liberal revolution and as an outspoken endorsement of the Democratic platform, calling for so much economic and social reform. The six freshmen bolters, undoubtedly had mixed motives, but there is no way of denying that they deserted their party leadership in a show-down case. The two new senators from Kentucky, Chapman and Withers (the latter appointed to Mr. Barkley's seat), would not follow the party line even for their fellow Kentuckian, the Vice President. Senators Hunt of Wyoming and Miller of Idaho, both regarded as Western Tru Dealers, went against the Administration scarcely two months after riding the party platform to victory. Perhaps we can explain away Senator Hunt of Oklahoma, a border state like Kentucky, but what about Senator Frear of Delaware? Here we have the upset-victor over a DuPont Republican, pulling away from White House leadership at an early stage.

3. Bandwagon Senators. Nobody senses a winning tread faster than weak-minded politicians. A mere reading of the petition list will show three or four senators—they need not be named here—who joined the Coalition merely by following their herding instincts. But their presence on the list is the most helpful straw in the prevailing political wind. For, as Senator Morse implied in his speech, the new lineup "predicts what will happen to great pieces of social legislation in the 81st Congress." If the Bandwagon senators guessed right, such social legislation as is passed will be the gift, not of the Tru Deal, but of this bipartisan conservative wing.

That need not mean that we shall have no social legislation at all. Quite the contrary will be true if the Coalition finds responsible leadership. There is no reason, for instance, to rule out a civil rights program to which both parties are pledged. In the special session last summer, Senator Hayden virtually offered enough Democratic votes to launch a Constitutional amendment against the poll tax. This compromise is now within the gift of the Coalition. It is perfectly possible, under a two-thirds cloture rule, to get a Senate resolution authorizing the civil rights section of the Justice Department to take a stronger hand in suppressing anti-race violence. Few Southerners would oppose a resolution which recognized the plain fact that the master race theory is not a Dixie monopoly. Even on the touchy subject of Fair Employment Practices the Coalition can do something. A law, for example, that applied only to workers in large inter-State industries would be a step forward and would not disturb too many reactionaries.

Senator Morse, I think, is right in proclaiming a new "de facto" party. But his grief over the impending death of social legislation—a lament that ran throughout his address—may be the natural anxiety of a sincere but over-excited man.

ROME — Count Carlo Sforza, Italian foreign minister: "The period of Italian isolation is definitely over."

WASHINGTON—Thomas D'Allesandro, mayor of Baltimore: "Promiscuous wire-tapping has become a national disgrace and a real danger of our democracy."

NEW YORK—Philip C. Jessup, U. S. ambassador - at - large, commenting on the Atlantic Pact: "The pact has the same objective as the United Nations Charter, but it is not to be read through rose colored glasses as if it will solve every problem."

WASHINGTON — President Harry S. Truman: "It is a terrible and shocking thing that the real estate lobby—which pretends to speak for those whose business is providing homes—has become the real enemy of the American home."

WASHINGTON—Bernard Baruch: "The crux of our problem is that there is no peace. We must deal with this first . . . nothing can have meaning except as it is related to our peace strategy we still lack."

The Unseen Audience

GUIDED MISSILE OR BOMBER

The United States has a 500-mile guided missile and is working on a 5,000-mile rocket-propelled missile, but military authorities agree that the long-range bomber is going to remain the prime weapon of war for a long, long time.

The V-2 type missile is recognized as the ideal weapon because it travels at altitudes beyond those reachable by intercepting aircraft. However, the problem of vastly increased weight, which comes with every effort to increase the missile's range, is a terrific one.

For instance, it is estimated that the 500-mile missile, with a one-ton warhead, weighs about 35 tons. The 200-mile V-2 weighs only about 15 tons.

A 5000-mile missile cannot be figured simply as 10 times heavier than the 500-mile job, because the larger tanks for increase in fuel would weigh more. Under present technique, the 5,000-mile missile would weigh thousands of tons and its cost would be tremendous.

Bombers are far more susceptible to interception and destruction, but they can be built in large numbers at smaller cost.

Another still-thorny problem is that of guiding the missile beyond its fuel exhaustion point. After that point the missile simply falls, and extremely complex and powerful controls would be necessary to guide it through the fall.

SEE CLIMAX IN AIR FORCE BATTLE

Two red-hot Washington battles the fate of the 70-group Air Force and the failure of armed services unification—are likely to reach a single climax with the resignation of Air Secretary Stuart Symington.

President Truman knows that most of the inter-service bickering in the Defense department is over the lion's share of appropriations. He also knows that Symington is determined to fight the presidential edict that the Air Force be reduced to 48 groups.

Symington's conviction that the 70-group force, voted by the last Congress, is the nation's best defense, forces him to fight for more money and thereby heighten tension on the unification front.

When the President laid down his 48-group plan, Symington cut orders for fighter planes and placed the Air Force's reliance on long-range bombers. This move brought about immediate criticism from planners in Defense Secretary James Forrestal's office.

Symington has submitted a routine resignation in keeping with the tradition at the beginning of a new administration. The betting is that it will be accepted and a less rabid air power advocate will take his job.

Ironically, Congress appears ready to brush aside Mr. Truman's 48-group plan and keep right on appropriating funds to build the 70-group air armada.

FEAR "BARNSTORMING" BOOMERANG

Some of President Truman's close friends are privately urging him to forget about his threat to barnstorm the nation if Congress fails to enact his legislative program.

The President is believed to have meant every word he said when he came out against the "lobbyist," "special interests" and "pressure groups" he charged with hamstringing his program.

However, many of the Chief Executive's intimates are pointing out to him that the only people he could campaign against would be Democrats—and that such a campaign might prove a boomerang.

The White House advisers emphasize that the Republicans already are foes of his legislative plan, and that a "purge" attempt against anti-administration Democrats might backfire.

In this connection, they recall that this is just what happened to the late President Roosevelt more than 10 years ago when he went south and tried to "purge" Senator Walter F. George (D) Georgia, and others. George still is in the Senate.

We doubt whether shifting from Molotov to Vishinsky in Russia will have any more effect on Russian policy than the shifting of Forrestal to Johnson will have on our policy.

Communist leaders over here say that they wouldn't back the United States if we were to get into war with Soviet Russia. And yet there are some addepatated Americans who can't see the difference between the Communist and any other political party.

JOBS UPON A TIME

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN was one of the most colorful figures in American history of the 19th and early 20th centuries. He was born in 1860, in Salem, Ill. He was a lawyer by profession. He was three times unsuccessful Democratic nominee for president. President Woodrow Wilson appointed him secretary of state but he resigned in 1915 because of pacifist leanings. He believed in the unlimited coinage of silver, and his "Cross of Gold" speech was one of his most memorable. He toured the world, and died in Miami, Fla., on July 26, 1925.

LON CHANEY, famous motion picture character actor of the 1920's was born in Colorado Springs, Colo., in 1883. His parents were deaf mutes. His first appearance in the movies came in 1912. He made a smash hit as the bogus cripple in "The Miracle Man." A master of makeup, he starred in "Outside the Law," "Treasure Island," "Oliver Twist" and "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," in which he played the hunchback. His last picture was "The Unholy Three." He died in 1930.

Pittsburgh Mayor Asks Marshall Plan For American Cities

Wants State And Federal Governments To Restore American Income Balance

WASHINGTON, March 23.—
(INS)—Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh called on the federal and state governments to formulate a "Marshall plan for American cities".

Lawrence said that the plan should include "effective federal and state aid for urban redevelopment, sweeping elimination of slums and dramatic reconstruction of desirable city environments."

Lawrence recommended that the "Marshall plan" for cities be accomplished by changes in state and federal tax laws, which would:

1. Permit housing investors a more rapid depreciation for income tax purposes.
2. Include "a self-denying ordinance" that would take the state and federal governments out of "certain inappropriate tax areas" and hand them over to the cities.
3. Prevent the "continuing fragmentation" of local governments by state legislatures.

"A Marshall plan for America's cities must concentrate on rebuilding values back into our central city areas, and on restoring the balance between our income and our needs."

Quaker City Has Taxi-Cab Strike

Drivers Of 130 Independent Taxi
Cabs Call Strike In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, March 23.—
(INS)—Philadelphia's 130 independent taxicabs were off the streets today as the result of a strike called by 275 drivers.

Charles Pirilli, president of local 156 of the AFL Taxi Drivers union, said the dispute involved pay and "seniority rights", although the operators claimed the men struck over a hiring clause.

The strike did not cause too much inconvenience for the cab-riding public, however, because it did not affect the Yellow Cab Co., which operates some 1,000 cabs in the city.

the taxpayers justify a full explanatory accounting.

Think of it: eleven billion dollars down the sewer, and we thought that the United States Steel corporation was crazy for attempting to finance a corporation calling for the expenditure of one billion dollars. But that corporation gave its stockholders an itemized expense account regularly every quarter of the year. And that corporation together with General Motors are said to be the greatest corporations in Capitalistic United States.

A billion dollar corporation which does not provide for regular and faithful auditing cannot command confidence. ECA is a multi-billion dollar corporation. Its tax-paying stockholders should be fully and honestly enlightened. But no member of the New Deal corporations are going to tell how they spend a single dollar of the taxpayers' money.

tims to the ultimate madness of

From the military point of view, all that can be done under the

to restore something of the strength sapped by the war. From the political point of view, the pact is a franchise to a brave, new

Canadians Get Huge Tax Cut

Some 600,000 Canadians Will Be
Tax Exempt While Others
Get One-Third Cut

OTTAWA, March 23.—(INS)—
Some 600,000 happy Canadians appeared assured today of complete tax exemption, while thousands of other will in all likelihood receive a one-third cut in taxes.

The Canadian government broke the cheerful news to Parliament
last night, when Finance Minister Douglas Abbott delivered the 1940-50 budget speech.

The reductions in income taxes and other federal levies—almost without precedent in Canadian history—are regarded as certain to be approved by Parliament.

Abbott said that Canada's "almost unexcelled prosperity" would continue for at least a year, adding that wartime price ceilings on many commodities and import controls on articles including fruits, vegetables and furniture, will be relaxed.

Churchill Arrives For Visit To U.S.

NEW YORK, March 23.—(INS)— Winston Churchill, wartime prime minister of Great Britain, arrives today with members of his family aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth for an 11-day visit in the U. S.

The 74-year-old statesman's chief engagement is before a convocation March 31 at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which will be attended by world leaders and thinkers.

While in this country, Churchill will be the guest of America's elder statesman, Bernard Baruch. He will go to Washington tomorrow to dine with President Truman, and then visit in New York until his trip to Cambridge, Mass. He will be the guest at several private dinners in his honor in New York.

Members of the New Castle Lions club were entertained at their luncheon meeting in The Castleton Tuesday noon by the a cappella choir of senior high school directed by Miss Helen Leslie.

A varied program was presented, including numbers appropriate to the Lenten season, concluding with a group of patriotic numbers. The choir is making splendid progress under Miss Leslie's direction and they were warmly thanked for their splendid renditions by President Henry Broad. The club showed its appreciation in a material way by treating the choir to ice cream following the close of the program.

One new member, J. R. Richardson of the New Castle Business college was accepted for membership.

County Students Get Patch Tests

Tuberculosis Society X-Rays Positive Reactors In School
Testing Program

Lawrence County Tuberculosis society officials in cooperation with county school nurses, have completed patch testing more than 850 pupils in District Four of the county school system.

Teachers and pupils in the odd numbered grades of Shenango, Shenango-Taylor, Slippery Rock and Perry township schools have been tested. Of this group 69 showed a positive reaction and arrangements have been made to have them X-rayed.

Mrs. Jane M. Cochran, executive secretary, said today that East Brook and Hickory township schools are now being tested.

Mrs. Isabel Craig, county school nurse, assisted with the testing in District Four.

Mrs. Cochran added that funds are still being received for 1948 Christmas seals and it is not too late for Lawrence county residents to acknowledge the Christmas seal letters that might have been overlooked.

She said the work of the Tuberculosis society is a year-round project and funds received now are just as welcome as they were during the holiday season.

Legislation For Licensing Of All Nurses Favored

HARRISBURG, March 23.—(INS)—Legislation calling for the licensing of all registered and practical nurses was endorsed Tuesday by the senate public health committee.

Chairman Louis B. Farrell (R) Philadelphia, said two bills sponsored by Sen. Leroy E. Chapman (R) Warren, were amended to make certain that provisions of the proposals would not contravene the right of members of families to care for each other during illness without licenses.

The measures, which have the backing of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association, are similar to legislation killed in the house last week. The house judiciary committee reported to the floor today a bill creating a fifth judgeship in the Dauphin county court.

The measure, co-sponsored by Dauphin Republicans Reps. R. Dixon Herman and Nolan F. Ziegler, is designed to ease the burdens on jurists who must handle the bulk of the Commonwealth's litigation in addition to regular court routine.

Dauphin jurists receive $15,000 a year plus $3,000 for hearing cases involving the Commonwealth.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
(Distributed By International News Service)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 23.—Tom Campbell is a fascinating combination of incurable romantic and hard-headed pragmatist.

Both traits have contributed equally to his success as a global farmer, the world's wheat king and its foremost advocate of mass production or mechanized farming.

The fact that he is the largest single land-owner in New Mexico doesn't interest him half as much as the fact that with his 429,000 acres he has acquired tracts of land soaked in the earliest history and festooned with the oldest legends in American history.

What George Washington is to the Eastern Seaboard, Coronado, the swashbuckling Spanish explorer and adventurer, is to the Southwest. And Coronado has slept on almost all of Tom's acres!

La Joya Grant

More than 400 years ago, when Coronado marched north from Mexico City, he followed the Rio Grande, which cuts through that part of the Campbell acreage known as the La Joya grant.

This vast grant of 310,000 acres was first made more than 300 years ago by the Kings of Spain to "adventurous subjects."

"But Coronado ante-dated them all," Tom said, as he stood in the center of the La Joya grant, stretching from the Blue Ladrone mountains in the northwest to nine miles beyond the summit of rugged Pinos mountains to the east.

"The Ladrone mountains and many places on the La Joya grant are mentioned in Coronado in his record of his journey," Tom added. "He founded stations along the way and he even paused to plant vineyards."

That's one reason that the La Joya Development company, which is Tom Campbell, is going to experiment with vineyards in this arid region, for vineyards take little water as both Coronado and Tom discovered.

Offers Challenge

Tom thinks this section offers a tremendous challenge today to Americans with pioneer vision and hardihood.

"The greatest development in the United States is now going on in that area immediately east of the Rockies from Montana to New Mexico," Tom declared. "This is a land of immense opportunity because of its almost limitless natural resources. It's a land of opportunity for any pioneer who isn't afraid of work."

Tom has never been afraid of hard work (he says he works two eight-hour shifts a day and anyone who has tried to follow him around for even 48 hours is convinced of it!) And he has always been animated by the pioneer spirit.

Tom was born in a sod cabin on the North Dakota prairies, the son of hardy pioneers who saw their North Dakota holdings grow from 80 to 4,000 acres. By the time Tom was 17, his father's health had failed and he, Tom, not only was running the 4,000-acre farm but attending the University of North Dakota.

It was the gruelling, back-breaking work on the North Dakota farm that made Tom doubly determined to extract as much of the drudgery from farm work as possible through use of machines. At the end of five years at the University of North Dakota, he emerged with both an A.B. and a degree in mechanical engineering. From there, he went to Cornell for graduate work in engineering.

Tom is probably the only bonafide farmer in America who was ever even a fleeting partner of J. P. Morgan. But when the United States asked him to grow wheat in World War I, he knew of no other individual except Morgan who might be able to loan him the $2,000,000 needed to mechanize such a vast agricultural project.

He had never met Morgan before, but within 20 minutes, Tom had persuaded the Wall Street banker to advance the $2,000,000. Persuasive is the name for Tom! By the time World War II rolled around, Tom's reputation as a genius for machines was so well established that General Marshall drafted Tom, although he was then almost 60, as mechanization expert with the armed forces.

This farmer extraordinary entered the Army as a lieutenant colonel and left it almost five years later as a brigadier general. In the meantime, he had served as an expert on mechanization in every war theatre and with every branch of the service except the paratroopers. His boundless vitality even wore down 18-year-old G.I.'s.

"I could outmarch 'em all, Americans, English or Aussies," Tom beamed as I tagged breathlessly in his wage over his New Mexico empire. But, he added wistfully:

"I sure would like to have had a chance with the paratroopers."

Declares Russia Has Scientific Secret Of A-Bomb

WASHINGTON, March 23—(INS)—An atomic scientist declared Tuesday that Russia "has the scientific secret of atomic bombs" and "may already be manufacturing atomic weapons."

The statement was made by Dr. David Bradley, who witnessed the 1946 A-bomb tests at Bikini as a government scientist, in a speech to the annual conference of United States mayors.

Bradley recommended that the U. S. government make public its atomic information. He said this country is making a mistake in trying to keep the information secret.

Bradley declared: "In a very real sense, the more secrecy we have, the less our chances for survival over the long run."

"Fatal Delusions"

Bradley said that "our people are laboring under four fatal delusions. He declared these are:

1. "The idea that we possess and can keep the secret of making atomic bombs."

2. "The delusion that we can 'hide behind what is often called 'industrial know-how'."

3. "The idea that 'atomic weapons are absolute weapons'."

4. "The 'current effort to play down the bomb—that atomic weapons are really of no great account—or to use that now classic statement—just another piece of ordnance'."

Bradley told the mayors: "Gentlemen, there is no secret. Russia, you may be sure, has the scientific secret of atomic bombs."

The scientist said that "industrial know-how" is "at very best temporary advantage." He added:

"Anyone who can make a pile can make plutonium. An industrialized Russia, aided by captured German scientists, may already be manufacturing atomic weapons."

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Mrs. Patrick Campbell created the little role in George Bernard Shaw's "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray". The play, which was not a conspicuous success, required a large cast. Mrs. Campbell was appraising the house from a peephole on the third night when Mr. Shaw inquired: "How are we doing?" "Better than last night," she answered, "but we are still in the majority."

In his early driving days, Moss Hart was giving Robert Sherwood a lift home. He drove head-on into two mildly astonished motorcycle cops who were passing the time of day in the middle of the empty road. Moss had been canny, proceeding at eight miles an hour so the only injury the cops suffered was to their dignity. One of the cops approached Moss with ominous restraint and asked: "Would you mind telling me your name?" "Moss Hart." "And your occupation?" "I am a writer." "And the gentleman with you?" "That is Robert Sherwood." "And his occupation?" "He's a writer, too."

The cop turned triumphantly to his sidekick. "I told you," he said, "they were a couple of nuts!" Then he added wearily to Hart, "Drive on, young fellow, but try to remember that motorcycle cops aren't in season this month."

"Fatal Delusions"

Bradley said that "our people are laboring under four fatal delusions. He declared these are:

1. "The idea that we possess and can keep the secret of making atomic bombs."

2. "The delusion that we can 'hide behind what is often called 'industrial know-how'."

3. "The idea that 'atomic weapons are absolute weapons'."

Soviets Converting German Labor Unions For Direct Action

Gen. Clay Asserts Labor Unions Are Direct Action Arm For Communist Party

BERLIN, March 23—(INS)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay declared today that Soviet-controlled German labor unions are being converted into a direct "action arm" of the communist party.

The U. S. military governor, in his semi-monthly report, also said that the Anglo-American airlift is enjoying sustained success, with planes now averaging 5,361 tons daily. He said that if this rate continues, "the total will be considerably exceeded in March."

Clay said the Russians are tightening their grip on Soviet-zone and Soviet-sector unions by means of "interlocking directorates," in which high communists are made union officials.

He cited a recent example of this trend the fact that Adolf Deter, deputy chairman of the Socialist Unity (communist) party, was elected chairman of the Berlin FDGB—the Russian-dominated labor group.

The general said that in Deter's case and one other, union leaders who had priority were by-passed in favor of the communist officials.

The U. S. occupation chief further noted that the FDGB has accepted an invitation to join the world federation of trade unionists (WFTU) which west German unions and most American labor groups have repudiated as pro-communist.

The general's report stated that relief applications in American-occupied Germany decreased markedly in the last week of February but increased in March, and are still rising.

Clay charged that Soviet border guards near Ludwigstadt in the American zone have been prohibiting quarry workers from crossing the boundary to work in Russian zone quarries.

More than 4,000,000 air express shipments, weighing 71.5 million pounds, were carried by the scheduled, certificated airlines in 1948, according to the Air Express division of the Railway Express agency.

Search For Speaker To Replace Truman

M.L.T. Searches For World Leader To Replace Truman For Mid-Century Convocation

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 23—(INS)—Officials at Massachusetts Institute of Technology began searching for a prominent world leader to replace President Truman as speaker at the mid-century convocation of scientific progress on April 1.

Following Mr. Truman's decision to cancel his appearance because of pressing official duties, a Tech spokesman said officials would meet this week to discuss a possible substitute for the president.

Former British prime minister Winston Churchill has accepted an invitation to speak at the convocation and arrives in New York today.

Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., whose inauguration as 10th president of M. I. T. on April 2 will conclude the convocation, expressed regret at the cancellation of the President's appearance, but declared he was fully aware of the President's pressing duties.

Similar regret was expressed by the Very Rev. William L. Keleher, president of Boston College, where the president was to receive an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws April 26.

Father Keleher said a meeting would be held this week at Boston College to decide whether the institution would confer with degree on President Truman in absentia.

Declined To Serve In Armed Forces, Denied Citizenship

PHILADELPHIA, March 23.—(INS)—Federal Judge George A. Walsh today denied U. S. citizenship to a 49-year-old Italian laborer who "objected" to serving with American armed forces during World War II.

The jurist brushed aside a New York federal court's decision which held that refusal of an enemy alien to fight for this country in wartime was not a bar to his being granted American citizenship.

Said Judge Walsh in turning down the application of Luigi Polletta, of Philadelphia:

"I could not, in good conscience, grant citizenship to a man, not a genuine conscientious objector, who refused to fight for this country in time of war, but who comes here now after the war is over and peace is at hand and wants to get all the benefits of our citizenship."

Judge Walsh added tartly: "All we get out of 'hyphenated' Americans is the hyphen, and that's not enough for what this country gives them."

"Cubit" was an ancient measurement, meaning the length between the elbow to the tip of the middle finger.

Two Young Girls Reported Stabbed

Seventeen-Year-Old San Diego, Calif., Youth Held As Result Of Stabbings

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 23.—(INS)—A 17-year-old San Diego youth was held today in connection with the stabbing of two 16-year-old girls during what police describe as a necking and drinking party.

Dr. J. W. Wilhoit, police surgeon, estimated the girls had been stabbed at least 150 times each with a pocket knife. He said they "looked like they had been sprayed with a shotgun."

Both are under treatment at Quintard hospital. They were reported in serious condition but improving.

Booked by police on charges of suspicion of attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon was Salvador Colabelle. He is held under guard at the juvenile home pending outcome of the condition of the two girls.

Drank Wine And Gin
Held as material witnesses are two other youths who witnessed the stabbing during a Saturday night party at an abandoned government trailer camp.

Police Lt. Mort Greer said the two youths told him they and Colabelle drank wine and gin with the girls, then drove to the trailer camp. Colabelle was quoted as saying he became enraged when members of the party "switched dates," trading girls.

Greer said Colabelle claimed he was "in love" with one of the girls, who joined one of the other youths in another shack.

The police surgeon said some of the knife wounds penetrated the lung cavities of the two victims. He added that he and other physicians placed more than a hundred stitches in each of the girls, who suffered wounds on their heads, arms, chests and necks.

Senate Committee To Study School Bills

Bills To Boost State Payments For Vocational And Adult Extension Education

HARRISBURG, March 23.—(INS)—A measure in the senate highways committee would create a state highway planning commission to develop a long-range highway program.

The bill, explained by sponsors Sen. James S. Berger (R) Potter, would set up a commission of 11 members appointed by the governor to study the ways and means of financing a long-range highway program and the administration needed to carry it out.

The commission would operate under a $400,000 grant and would make a report to the governor no later than February 1, 1951.

Pyramid Rocks In Washington

Many Branches Of Club Said To Have Collapsed After Indictment

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(INS)—The pyramid rocked in the nation's capital while awaiting the fate of one of the originators of the easy-money club who was indicted on lottery charges.

Many branches of the club were said to have collapsed under a threatened police crackdown while others postponed their parties and payoffs for several days to await further action.

There also was reported to be a movement of activities to suburban Maryland and Virginia where officials have taken no action so far as to the legality of the latest craze.

The crackdown was sparked by the grand jury indictment of Daniel A. Thomas, 28-year-old bricklayer, an admitted pyramid founder-member who was charged with operating a lottery.

There were no further arrests although many members of the club who reached the pyramid last night said they were not paid off because of the scare caused by the threatened crackdown.

Several winners suggested all who get a pay-off kick in at least $1 for a defense fund for Thomas who is expected to be arraigned Friday in the case which will provide a court test of the club's legality.

Senate Committee Considers New Highway Program

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(INS)—The senate armed services committee on Tuesday unanimously approved President Truman's appointment of Louis Johnson as secretary of defense.

The committee asked Johnson to submit in writing a statement that he has severed his connections with all business firms which might have dealings directly or indirectly with the government.

Chairman Tydings (D) Md., said he will report the committee action to the senate floor as soon as he receives Johnson's statement—possibly this afternoon.

To Succeed Forrestal
Johnson, a former assistant secretary of war, was named by the president to succeed James Forrestal.

The committee brushed aside the complaints brought against Johnson by Lester Barlow, who contended that while Johnson was assistant secretary of war the department once refused to test a bomb Barlow had invented.

Tydings said that before taking its unanimous action, the committee received a letter from plane-maker Glenn L. Martin, who, the chairman said, "strongly approved" the appointment. Martin formerly employed Barlow.

Formerly Convicted Of Practicing Medicine Without License In Clinic

PITTSBURGH, March 23.—(INS)—Philip Drosnes and Mrs. Lillian Lazenby, who last week were convicted of practicing medicine without a license in at Pittsburgh cancer clinic, today looked forward to a new trial.

The couple filed a motion for the trial yesterday on the basis that insufficient evidence was presented for their conviction. A panel of three judges will hear their plea.

Edward Arnold Ends 20-Year Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, March 23.—(INS)—Actor Edward Arnold joined the ranks of Hollywood's eligible men Tuesday with the termination of his 20-year marriage to formal vocal teacher Olive Arnold, 54.

Superior Judge Samuel R. Blake granted Mrs. Arnold a divorce decree by default after she testified Arnold left their home on Oct. 6, 1947, and rejected her pleas for his return with these words:

"I don't love you any more."
Mrs. Arnold made no mention of charges in an earlier separate maintenance suits that the portly character actor boasted of "amorous pursuits" with other women.

The court approved a settlement under which Arnold paid his wife $10,000 cash and which calls for $1,000 a month thereafter, in addition to a division of other assets.

Plea Reversed By Defendant, Trial Is Halted

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., March 23.—(INS)—Frank Ciralo, 27, of Brooklyn changed his plea to "no defense" and was found guilty by Judge Chester D. Fetterhooft of the $20,000 robbery of Daniel (Dutch) Lamont.

Judge Fetterhooft of Huntingdon county, who was specially presiding at the trial, sentenced Ciralo to 7½ to 15 years in western penitentiary and fined him $2,000.

The surprising change of plea abruptly ended the trial, which started Monday before a jury of seven women and five men in Baltr county court in Hollidaysburg.

Lamont, Altoona sportsman and businessman, took the stand Monday and identified Ciralo as one of two gunmen who robbed him last Nov. 10 of $17,000 in cash and $3,000 in securities.

SALES ARE LOWER
NEW YORK, March 23.—(INS)—The federal reserve bank reported today that dollar sales of New York City department stores for the week ended March 19 were 18 percent below the like week of a year ago.

For the four-week period ended March 19 sales were 11 percent below the comparative 1948 interim.

The reserve bank pointed out that one factor in the decline is the lateness of Easter this year, which falls on April 17, against March 28 in 1948.

One of the old landmarks in Mahoningtown was finally razed assortment of businesses had been carried on there, among them millinery, hardware, grocery, jeweler, shoe shop, etc.

Old residents say the buildings in first block of East Cherry street were erected about 75 years ago.

Presbyterian Young Folks At Conference

Bill Bollinger, Harold McConnell, Clair Galbraith, and James Duff, members of the Christian Endeavor society of Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, have returned from Butler, where they attended the Western District Christian Endeavor Conference, at the North Street Church of Christ, in Butler,
March 20.

At two o'clock, there was a song service; at three o'clock, the young folks attended classes of instruction, to fit them for various kinds of church work. There was a business session at 4:30.

All partook of a splendid supper at five o'clock, in the dining room, served by the ladies of the church.

In the church auditorium, the group joined in a song service, at seven o'clock; this was followed by an address by the pastor, Rev. Q.
Gray, on the subject "John The Baptist." There was special music.
About 300 young folks attended the event.

AUTOS DAMAGED

day, it knocked Scalzo's car over a high curb, into his yard. Both

Hiccups Halted By Third Operation

WILKINSBURG, Pa., March 23.
—(INS)—A third operation was believed today to have halted the persistent hiccups of Mrs. Phyllis Rocco of nearby Swissvale.

Mrs. Rocco was operated on yesterday at Columbia hospital in Wilkinsburg in an effort to stop her latest attack which began last week.

Her first attack of hiccups occurred six years ago and lasted for 31 days. In 1947 she had an 13-day spell followed later by an eight-day attack. She had undergone two previous operations.

California was a Spanish colony until 1822, when Mexico revolted from that country. Then California was under the Mexican flag until 1846, when U. S.

Marines landed and raised the Stars and Stripes, and the town of Monterey became the capital of the state and its most important seaport.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks
the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!
Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing! Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.
Break the laxative habit... with Carter's Pills... and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit. Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for 35¢ today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Court House

Hickory Appeals Heard On Tuesday

Taxpayers Of Township Appeal Assessments—Claim They Are High

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Taxpayers of Hickory township appealed their county assessments Tuesday before the county commissioners.

Three sessions were held, one from 9 to 11 in the morning, one from 2 to 4 in the afternoon and one from 7 to 9 in the evening. Appeals were heard at each session. For the most part they followed a pattern, either they were claimed to be too high or were too high by comparison with other properties.

County Assessors Roscoe Clements made his assessment by estimating the market value of the properties and then dividing by four, giving an over all assessment of 25 per cent.

In some cases no revision was allowed, in others the commissioners agreed to view the properties themselves.

MECHANICAL BRAIN

For the purpose of trying it out, County Treasurer Donald I. Neal has a "mechanical brain" in his office, known as a rapid calculator.

The machine computes interest, multiplies, divides, adds, subtracts and if properly induced could probably recite Reizen's Last Address to the Romans.

To compute interest and then divide it over accounts you merely press a couple of buttons, cross your fingers and hold your breath. The machine starts to whirl like a pinball machine with nervous prostration and in an instant you hit the jackpot, pardon you get the right answer.

If this sort of thing keeps up, the need for teaching mathematics will be in second place.

FILLING JURY WHEEL

Jury Commissioners George J. Forrest and Tad E. Shields have started filling the jury wheel for 1950.

Blanks have been sent to the committee members of the Republican and Democratic parties and committee members are asked to fill the blanks in and return them. To get a wheel of competent jurors it is necessary for the committee to use care in selection of the names. This they are asked to do, but quickly.

Brilliant new DeSoto

gets tremendous welcome from public!

Come in and see "The Car Designed With YOU in Mind"

It's BRAND-NEW... so new that there aren't many on the streets yet. But already it's a tremendous success. And it's easy enough to see why.

Everybody wants a smart, good-looking modern car. But most of us don't want to pay a penalty for being modern. We want more room... more comfort... more visibility... not less.

That's where De Soto scores. It's got those long, low lines. But you don't have to wriggle into it. It has big wide doors. Plenty of headroom, too. The roof won't scrape your hat, no matter where you sit. It's roomier than ever.

It's no use having bigger windows and windshields unless you can see out of them. In the new De Soto you can... because you're sitting on chair-high seats. Even a short person can see over the steering wheel. Even a six-footer won't hit his knees on it.

You don't have to enlarge your garage to hold the new De Soto. You can still change a tire yourself. And a dent in the fender doesn't mean an expensive body repair job. Come in and see this wonderful car that lets you drive without shifting. Compare it with any other at any price. Then decide.

Tune in "HIT THE JACKPOT" every Tuesday night, all CBS stations

Boosters Donate To Blood Program

New Castle Boosters, an organization of young men interested in community welfare, donated $300 to the local blood bank program at their meeting Tuesday night.

One of the prime motivations in the original organization of the Boosters was to foster a blood program in the county. Recently the Red Cross instituted such a program. Stimulated by the needs of the community, the requests of the doctors, and the help of such groups as the Boosters and the Womads, the Red Cross launched its program earlier than anticipated in the budget requirements of the local chapter.

The large contributions of the Boosters and another recent donation, $100 by the Womads, have been used to purchase the required refrigeration equipment for the three hospitals of the county participating in the blood bank program.

FRANK G. DOERR

IN DESHON HOSPITAL

WITHHOLDS DECISION

After hearing testimony in the case of Police Chief Robert D. Hanna against Sam Gray, 125½ West Washington street, in which Gray was charged with operating a disorderly house, Alderman J. C. Kennedy withheld his decision. Gray is at liberty on bail.

The charges came as an aftermath of the shooting of William Weidenhof, North Norris Way, in the early morning of March 14, in his home.

The banjo has been described as America's only national musical instrument.

PEARL: COME HOME

It was all my fault, Pearl. I admit it. I was surly and grumpy. No wonder that even the kids were scared of me. But everything's better now. I've found out that constipation caused by lack of bulk in my diet can be licked! Believe me, I advise others who suffer the same way to do what I did: just eat a bowlful of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day and drink plenty of water. They say it's America's most famous laxative cereal—believe me, it sure gets my vote. Or make it up into muffins—they taste grand too. . . . Come home, dear, and find a brand new man waiting for you. That's me—your ever-lovin' husband, JOE.

You should and can do something about Pin-Worms. A new, scientific treatment—Jayne's P-W Vermifuge—offers real relief. P-W contains a special, medically-approved ingredient that destroys Pin-Worms in the intestine and removes them from the body.

So watch for the warning signs of Pin-Worms in your family. . . . Itching, nose picking and especially the nagging, irritating rectal itch. Then ask your druggist for P-W, the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by the famous Jayne Co., specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years. Destroy those Pin-Worms. . . . relieve that itch. ## Kentucky Wins Eastern Title

By JOHN BARRINGTON
 (International News Service Staff Writer)
 NEW YORK, March 23.—Kentucky's Wildcats—out of their dolours and fairly sailing along once more—had only the "slow-em-down" Oklahoma Aggies today to hurdle for their second successive NCAA basketball championship.

The up-and-down Wildcats, who missed a major tournament grand slam when Loyola trumped their aces in the national invitation quarter-finals, annexed the eastern regional collegiate crown last night with a 76-47 defeat of Illinois.

Only 15,125 fans saw the Madison Square Garden finale to two days of concentrated firing in two tournaments.

The stick-to-the-finish fans were treated to Kentucky basketball of the brand that sent the Wildcats winging into last summer's Olympics.

With All-American Alex Groza and Jim Line, the hot-shot added starter, in the driver's seat, the Wildcats never gave the Big Nine champion Illinois a chance.
